

GOVERNED RANGE GOVERNED PORTFOLIO 2 FACTSHEET

Risk Grading : Cautious

What is a Governed Portfolio?

Choosing a suitable portfolio of funds to meet your requirements can be difficult. Our range of Governed Portfolios is designed to help with exactly that.

A Governed Portfolio matches your risk attitude to a suitable mix of assets and funds. There are nine portfolios to choose from so you can select the one that best suits your risk attitude and time to retirement.

What governance process is in place?

Your portfolio comes with ongoing governance. This simply means that our investment experts check it regularly. It allows us to maintain the best mix of assets in line with the risk category - and to make sure it is performing in line with its overall objectives - aiming to give you the best returns. The value of your investment can go down as well as up and you may not get back the value of the original investment.

If our experts decide that the mix of assets needs to be adjusted, it happens automatically on your behalf, you don't need to do anything. What's more, this service comes at no extra cost.

For full details of our governance process please visit our website at royallondon.com/pensioninvestments.

Who is this portfolio designed for?

It is designed for someone who has a cautious attitude to risk and is a medium time away from retirement.

If you are not sure what your risk attitude is you can complete our online Risk Attitude Profiling Questionnaire at royallondon.com/pensioninvestments to give you an idea of your attitude to risk.

If you are in any doubt about the suitability of any particular type of investment, you should seek professional financial advice. Advisers may charge for providing such advice and should confirm any costs beforehand.

What is the investment objective?

This portfolio aims to deliver above inflation growth in the value of the fund at retirement, whilst taking a level of risk consistent with a cautious risk attitude over a medium time period.

Does the portfolio rebalance?

This portfolio rebalances monthly. If a portfolio is not rebalanced regularly, the asset mix can drift significantly over time changing the suitability of the portfolio.

What is the portfolio benchmark?

The benchmark is a target against which performance is measured.

This benchmark is regularly reviewed and may be updated by Royal London so that it remains appropriate for the investor profile as detailed in the section "Who is this portfolio designed for?" or where a component index is discontinued or replaced.

The benchmark for this portfolio is a composite of indices:

Details of changes to the portfolio

The following table documents the last 3 changes that Royal London have made to this portfolio.

Effective Date of Change	Overview of Changes
07/09/2023	Governed Portfolio 2 Whilst US labour markets have been softening over recent weeks, this rise in the unemployment rate has actually come despite any significant job losses. This could result in a cooling of inflation without deep global recessions. We remain overweight stocks for the time being, but recession risks remain and we stand ready to move back to more defensive when required. Furthermore, we have added to commodities, as improved energy demand from China and low supply have supported the asset class. We have increased the size of our underweight in bonds, as disinflationary forces continue to unwind.

Effective Date of Change	Overview of Changes
10/08/2023	Governed Portfolio 2 We remain overweight equities, with the underlying macro picture remaining supportive for the asset class. However, following a strong year to date rally and with our sentiment indicator showing that investors are at overly bullish levels, we have taken some profits. Elsewhere, we have added to commodities, moving overweight in the asset class, with inventories constrained and on-going geopolitical risks persisting.
20/07/2023	Governed Portfolio 2 With inflation continuing to fall and the near-term global growth picture remaining supportive we remain overweight equities. However, we have taken some profits and reduced the size of this overweight with investor sentiment now at euphoric levels following the strong year-to-date rally. Elsewhere, we have reduced an underweight position in commodities, moving towards neutral. Commodities have been weak this year but we are starting to see signs of troughing over recent weeks, especially with the peak interest rates in sight, which could provide tailwind for the asset class with on-going geopolitical risks.
